Angela Russo. Associate Professor at the Energy Department “Galileo Ferraris” of Politecnico di Torino (Italy), she graduated in Electrical Engineering in 1996 at Università degli Studi di Cassino (Italy), and obtained the Ph.D. in Industrial Engineering in 2001 at the same university. She was a Guest Scientist at the Technical Division of Fermi National Accelerator Laboratory (Chicago, USA) from December 1997 to February 1998. From 1999 to 2005 she was an Assistant Professor at Università degli Studi di Cassino. From 2005 to 2014 she was an Assistant Professor at Politecnico di Torino.

She co-authored 115 papers published in international journals and in the proceedings of conferences. 101 papers were indexed in SCOPUS with h-index = 21. She co-authored six book chapters (in English).

She is a member of the Editorial Board of the Journal “Energies” (publisher: MPDI) from 2017. She has served as a member of the Technical programme committee of many international conferences in the field of electric power systems. She was also the Publications Chair for the 7th IEEE PES International Conference on Innovative Smart Grid Technologies - Europe, Torino (Italy), September 26–29, 2017 and for the 55th International Universities Power Engineering Conference (UPEC 2020), Torino (Italy), September 1–4, 2020. She was the Tutorials Chair for IEEE EUROCON 2023, Torino (Italy), July 6–8, 2023. She is a Senior Member of IEEE and a Member of AEIT, and a registered professional engineer.

Her research interests concern power quality, integration of distributed resources (distributed generators as well as electrical energy storage systems) in distribution systems and optimal scheduling of distributed resources in the framework of microgrids.
